Refuses Walter Matthews of Connersville New Trial, and Fine of $110 is Enforced

TOTAL COSTS WAS $173.10

Erroll Archey Gives Bond on Assault Charge—Several Court Judgments Are Entered

Walter Matthews of Connersville, who was convicted by a jury in the circuit court last week on a charge of failing to provide his name and address after an automobile accident, was here this morning with his attorney, and filed a motion for a new trial, which was argued and overruled by Judge Sparks.

The court upheld the verdict of the jury which imposed a fine of $110, and in addition the court assessed the costs against the defendant, which in all amounted to a total sum of $173.10.

The defendant considered an appeal to the higher court, but after a conference changed his mind, and paid the fine and costs in the case. He was found guilty to leaving the scene of an accident in which his car and B. O. Simpson of this city was in collision last March. Evidence introduced showed that state police located the driver, as he had failed to provide his name, address or license number after the accident.

Erroll Archey appeared this afternoon before Judge Sparks on a charge of assault and battery, having previously been arrested, and the charge quashed. He was arraigned today on an amended affidavit, to which he pleaded not guilty, and gave $50 bond. He is charged with having assaulted Joseph M. Eskew of Washington township on February 6.

Evidence in the case of Lenna Benson against Wilbur Gordon and others, was heard in court today, and the defendants defaulted, with judgment being entered for the plaintiff in the sum of $60.76 and costs on a note.

The divorce suit of Clara M. Kuhn against Louis H. Kuhn has been dismissed by the plaintiff.

The divorce suit pending of Duward B. Gilson against Edna M. Gilson, in which the defendant has filed a motion for a change of venue from the county, has been sent to Henry county for trial.

Hong Kong, June 24—British and Indian troops are being dispatched to Shamen, the foreign settlement at Canton.

Six hundred refugees from Shamen, including many Americans, have arrived here.

One Frenchman is dead and several Britishers slightly wounded as the result of a disturbance at Canton yesterday involving Chinese student demonstrators and British marines. On the day prior to the disturbance, the British consul had warned the Canton government that he heard students intended to make martyrs of themselves by attacking the foreign concession bridges.

He added that any attempt to enter the concession would be forcibly resisted and the government would be held responsible for consequences.

THE HAPPY HARVESTER

Several Rushville Girls Anxious to Play Stellar Role in a Movie

Plans Are Going Forward for Screening of "A Day in Hollywood," Motion Picture That Will be Taken in This City, and Sponsored by Daily Republican. Local Girls Urged to Fill Out Nomination Blank so That Big Selection Will be Available.

Already several of Rushville's beautiful girls have made application for the stellar role in the Daily Republican's two reel comedy drama, "A Day in Hollywood" which is to be produced here in the city soon by the Pacific Coast Photoplay Producing unit from California.

All others for the cast in this dashing, full of action, movie will be persons of Rushville and vicinity, and perhaps for the first time, the people of Rushville will see just how the silver screen pictures are made. In this issue will be found a nominating blank, and girls who are ambitious for parts in the movie should clip it, and if possible, send it, together with their photographs to the Daily Republican movie editor. If you do not have a photo, send the nominating blank anyway, for it is desired to have as many of the beautiful girls of this city as possible nominated for the picture. There is no contest or any strings attached to this offer. The method of selecting the cast will be the same as that of Mack Sennett or any other producing company. Beauty, with personality and ability to screen well, will be the prime factors in the selections of the cast.

The Daily Republican's comedy, "A Day in Hollywood," is not the ordinary home talent picture, but a high class motion picture comedy drama. There will be absolutely no merchant advertising injected into this picture, as is the case of most localized pictures. The play will have a plot and in interesting story with plenty of laughs and humorous situations interspersed. The comedy will have both exterior and interior scenes. Arrangements have been made with the Princess theatre for the interiors or studio scenes and these scene will be made on the stage in full view of the audience in connection with the regular program of feature pictures.

Charles C. Petty, a Hollywood cameraman and producer will have charge of the production, and is bringing powerful studio lamps of two hundred and fifty thousand candle power to light to photograph the interior scenes.

The Daily Republican will keep open house for the receiving of applications and photographs until next week, at which time the applications will be gone over and the characters will be selected. All photos received will be returned after the selection is made, so get busy and clip out the application blank for the question is: "Who will be the leading lady for the Daily Republican's comedy, 'A Day in Hollywood'?"

Read the paper tomorrow for further details of this interesting endeavor.

The nominating blank coupon today will be found on page three

NATIONAL REALTORS IN CONVENTION AT DETROIT

Five Thousand Members and Families Gather for Four Day Session, Talking Over Business

SIDE TRIPS FEATURE

(By United Press)

Detroit, June 24—Aeroplane, special trains automobiles and boats brought 5,000 realtors and their families from every section of the United States to attend the National Association of Real Estate boards which convened here for a four day session.

Every state in the union, and practically every town of any size sent delegates to what promises to be the most colorful of more than 200 conventions scheduled for Detroit during the year.

Benjamin L. Coolidge, vice-president of the Chicago Real Estate Board and Pierce Jones, executive secretary of the board, arranged the speediest trip by taking a big Martin bombing plane.

The "All-California All-Western Special" left Los Angeles June 17 via the Southern Pacific. The train stopped off one day in San Francisco to gather the northwestern delegates, and then sped on to Detroit. This party will return via the Canadian Northwest, arriving back in San Francisco July 6.

A bannered, caravan of automobiles, carrying a huge lump of West Virginia coal, came from Huntington, W. Va., Brief stops were made enroute.

The Detroit Real Estate Board has made extremely elaborate preparations for entertaining the delegates, including trips to all the great automobile plants, and across the river to Windsor where the more or less famous 4.4 percent beer

TO WAGE WAR ON GROUNDHOGS SOON

Much Interest is Being Shown in Tour to be Held Friday on Exterminating the Pests

GOVERNMENT PLAN ADOPTED

Mr. Oederkirk, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Will be in Charge of Local Tour

Considerable interest is expected to be shown in the three ground hog demonstrations to be held in the county Friday, when Mr. Oederkirk, employed by the U. S. department of agriculture will be here, to tell Rush county farmers methods of exterminating them.

At eight o'clock the farm of Leslie Hungerford, in the northeast corner of Orange township will be visited. At ten o'clock the Henry Miller farm at the end of the New Salem cement road will be visited. The afternoon meeting at 1:30 will be on the Jesse Leisure farm in Jackson township.

Mr. Oederkirk will use calcium cyanide, which the department is recommending. It is easy to apply, the cost is little, works instantaneously and is not inflammable. In addition to explaining the necessary precautions in the use of this chemical, Mr. Oederkirk will explain some of the habits of the ground hog, rats and other rodents. Also he will explain the precautions which must be taken in protecting fur bearing animals.

The demonstrations are coming at a very busy time for Rush county farmers. However a great percentage of the farmers of the county are interested in learning some method of control.

Those farmers owning farms where there are ground hogs, believe them more active and in larger number this year, than in previous years according to H. D. Van Matre, county agent, who is also greatly interested in the eradication of the pests.

Mr. Oederkirk comes from Hancock county, where he conducts a similar demonstration on Thursday.

ARGUMENTS BEGUN IN SHEPHERD CASE

State's Attorney Declares Shepherd Had Indirectly Admitted Killing Billy McClintock

HAD GUILTY CONSCIENCE

Attorneys Begin Arguments Reviewing Facts in the Case Brought Out by the Evidence

Criminal Court, Chicago, June 24—William Darling Shepherd has indirectly confessed to the murder of Billy McClintock, the state charged today in its argument to the jury for Shepherd's conviction.

George E. Gorman, first assistant state's attorney, made the charge as he resumed the address he started yesterday.

"This man Shepherd," Gorman declared, had a guilty conscience and the voice of his conscience led him to make incriminating statements against himself.

"No, he never said 'I killed Billy McClintock,' but he offered alibis and excuses and he fled from town. Those were indirect confessions of his guilt and you gentlemen should keep them in your mind."

Gorman, who yesterday demanded the death penalty for Shepherd, cited law books to show that indirect confessions are often more damaging than direct evidence. Then he told the jury what the "indirect confessions" were.

"Even before the doctors attending Billy found out that the boy had typhoid fever, we find Shepherd telling Amelia Hall, one of the nurses, that Billy had told him he had typhoid fever," Gorman asserted.

"Shepherd was framing an alibi. He knew that Billy had typhoid because he had fed him the deadly germs, but Billy didn't know it—he didn't know that his own guardian had poisoned him. No, Shepherd had put the words in the mouth of the dying boy to protect himself."

Gorman cited the fact that Shepherd had told the same story to a newspaper reporter and to a state's attorney.

"Why? Because he was guilty and his conscience was hurting him." Shepherd's murder trial moved rapidly toward its climax, at yesterday's session of court. Shepherd himself took the witness stand in his own defense, denied any part in Billy's death and was submitted to cross examination. When he left the stand, his lawyers announced the case for the defense was complete and closing arguments were started at once.

George E. Gorman, first assistant state's attorney, was the first to address the jury. He talked for more than two hours and continued his address today.

RIPLEY FARMERS TALK AREA PLAN

Dr. Gauze Explains County Tuberculosis Area Plan, and Many Speak in Favor of It

LIVELY MEETING IS HELD

Monthly Session of Farm Bureau Attracts Big Crowd, and Interesting Program is Given

The Ripley township farm bureau held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium at Carthage, at which time Dr. Gauze of Carthage was the principal speaker, talking on tuberculosis among stock, and the dangers of the disease to the human race.

The township meeting was a lively affair, and the young people of the township had a part on the program that was given in connection with the address. At the meeting last month, it was decided to carry the monthly meetings through the summer, instead of adjourning until fall.

The meeting Tuesday night opened with a song by the girl's sewing club members, and also a song by the male quartet composed of Jesse Haley, Joe McBride, Robert Hudson and Neil Chapple, who sang two songs. A duet was next offered by Marie Leisure and Berdaine Herkless. A piano duet also was given by Ruby McGeorge and Lucile Pitts, with a recitation following by Roy Reddick.

Dr. Gauze, the speaker, was next introduced, and at first defined tuberculosis as an infectious and contagious but not an inherited disease. He stated that a farmer can't afford to have a tubercular cow, or spreader in his herd, because she will infect the rest of the cattle and hogs on the farm.

In addition to this, there is a more important reason, he said, and that is to protect the health of his children. He pointed out that in New York City alone, 25 percent of the children having tuberculosis, had contracted bovine tuberculosis by drinking commercial milk. In North Carolina, there are 27 counties and all have made one complete test, he said.

Dr. Gauze scored the person who says he can tell whether his cows had tuberculosis by looking at them, stating that the man who says that, is only fooling himself.

Harold Bell Wright Picture

The scene of "The Mine With the Iron Door," the new Sol Lesser Principal Pictures feature photograph which has been adapted from Harold Bell Wright's latest and greatest novel, is laid in what is peculiarly Harold Bell Wright territory, the Catalina mountains in Arizona.

"The Mine with the Iron Door," says Mr. Lesser, was made in a locale which was well high ideal for motion picture production.

"Strange stories drift about region," he says, "and thither many men have come—Spaniards, explorers, Indians, cattlemen, seekers for gold, and adventurers of all types, from every land. These men have scaled the mountain heights, up, past beneath the bluest of skies, over vast deserts they have travelled, up into the wilderness of mountains, and into the mighty Canada del Oro (Canyon of Gold.) Even today in there men still hear of the great lost mine and its fabulous wealth in raw gold—'The Mine with the Iron Door.'"

"The Mine With the Iron Door" is announced as the feature attraction today at the Castle theatre.

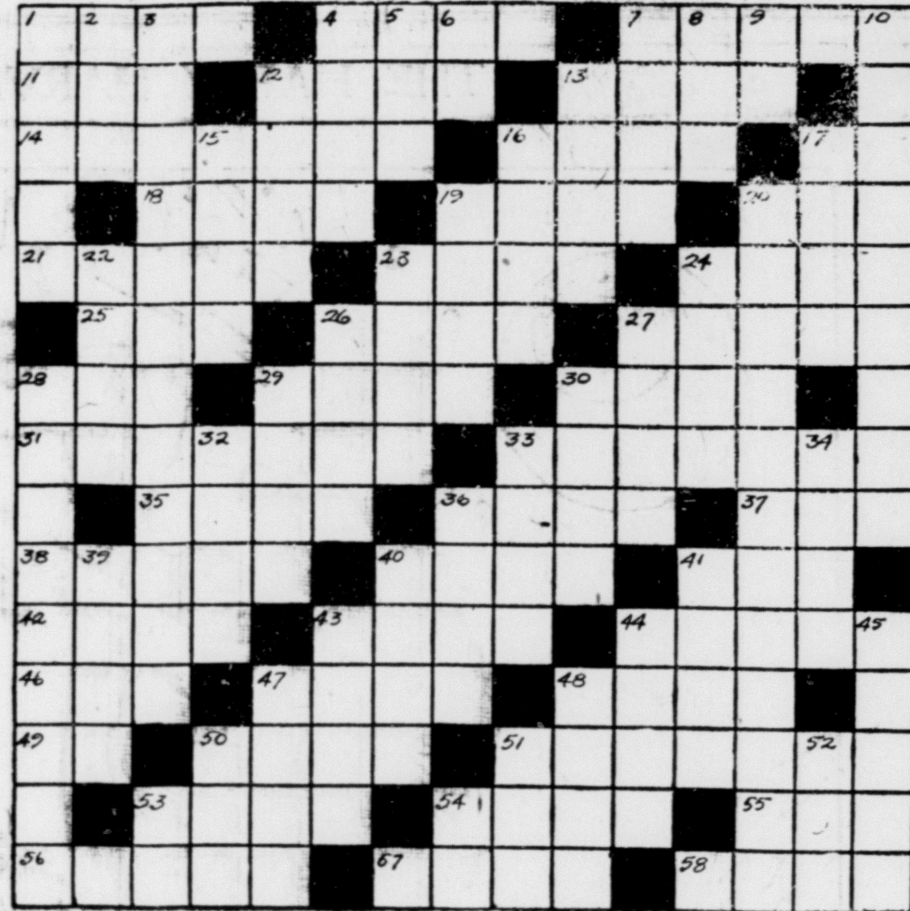

Three Generations of Women

Since the humble origin of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in 1881, made on a kitchen stove, three generations of women have used this old-fashioned root and herb remedy for their ailments with wonderful success. Very often we hear of families where the grandmother, mother and daughter testify to its virtue. This accounts for the astounding growth and demand for this dependable medicine from all over the United States and from many foreign countries as well.

CAPPING IS URGED ON ALL GAS WELLS

Attention Called to State Law, Requiring the Closing of Wells Abandoned by Owners

LEAKY WELLS A MENACE

Neglected Wells and Pipes Will Allow What Little Gas That Remains to Drain Other Veins

Indianapolis, Ind., June 24—Gas wells allowed to stand open or in which the casing leaks, should be repaired at once, for failure to prevent gas escaping into the open air or into porous strata of rock is not only a violation of the state law, but tends to exhaust the future supply, was the warning sounded today by the state conservation commission through its director, Richard Lieber.

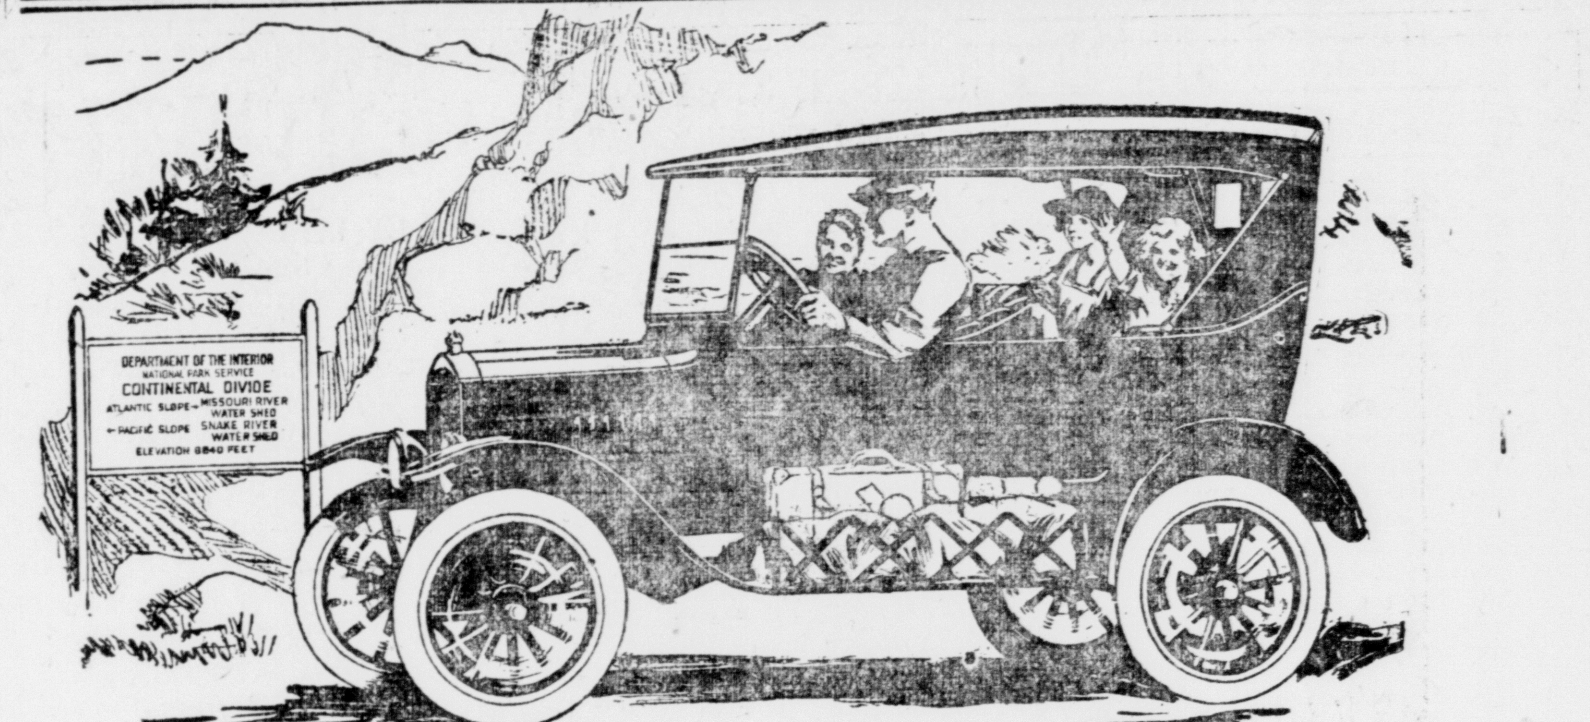

The warning followed reports to the department that some owners are neglecting to plug or properly care for abandoned gas wells.

According to Theodore Kingsbury, state gas supervisor, many gas wells of Indiana formerly good producers have become weak and now only show a small flow. Owners of such wells, in many cases, abandoned them or disconnected them from the main gas lines. In some cases these abandoned wells are permitted to stand open and what little gas remains is escaping, conservation department officials say.

While they may not be considered good producers, some of these wells still give sufficient gas to supply the needs of one home for a part of the year at least, and state officials urge that this meager supply be conserved.

Several cases of neglected gas wells have been reported recently and these are being investigated and owners directed to repair them by either capping the well if it has been allowed to stand open, replacing the damaged casing if the pipe has developed leaks, or, in case there is no gas, plugging and sealing the well. This action will result in saving the diminishing gas supply of the state.

tage of this opportunity and make sure their herds are free from tuberculosis." He believes the time is coming when we will realize the seriousness of the contagion and farmers will be anxious to keep their herds free without federal assistance. Under the present plan, farmers stand one third of the loss, the state and federal government each one third.

Noah Leisure, township chairman, called on Cassius Gray, who told of his experiences on testing cattle and that he wished to affirm Dr. Gauze's statement that the farmer who thinks he can tell a tubercular cow by looking at her, is only fooling himself. Mr. McGeorge, Harry Leisure and Mike Lovett and others were called upon for their views relative to the county area plan, speaking in the affirmative.

An interesting program followed the address, in which Helen Addison gave a reading, and a duet was given by Walter Addison and Robert Hudson, with the former playing a violin and the latter a banjo. A song by the first and second year sewing girls also was given, and at the close of the meeting, refreshments were served.

ARGUMENTS BEGUN IN SHEPHERD CASE

Gorman demanded that Shepherd be sent to the gallows to pay with his life for the alleged murder of young McClintock.

When Gorman finishes, Shepherd's attorneys, William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien will present their side of the case. Their arguments probably will consume the balance of the day.

Then will come the fiery chief prosecutor, Robert E. Crowe, who will deliver the state's closing argument. If present plans are carried out, Crowe will conclude his case in sufficient time on Thursday for the judge to instruct the jury and send it to deliberate on Shepherd's fate.

Make Your Choice—Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal. But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal; For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also. Matthew 6:19, 21.

Prayer:—Lord, Thou hast said, "My Son, give Me Thine Heart." We would now give to Thee our hearts, and then we cannot but give Thee all else now and ever.

Rural Health

The examination of 3,478 male students in a large state university of the midwest showed that a city of 50,000 or more is distinctly more healthful than small cities, villages and countryside.

This is a blow to the common conception that rural life is inherently wholesome and healthful.

The crystal waters of the old farm well, fresh food from field, garden and dairy, the gymnastic exercise the plow, hoe and star provide, the mental serenity that goes with outdoor life and contact with nature have been so lyrically extolled by orators and writers that the idea of the country being more conducive of health is firmly implanted in the average mind.

But we will have to give way to new ideas when convincing proof is offered. And those of us who live in the smaller communities should profit from the lessons our big city cousins teach, and adopt all of the modern safeguards against disease that it is possible to utilize outside large centers of population.

Golf and Longevity

When our well known business and professional men begin to take on that "middleage spread" and show symptoms of the gout, the doctor wisely prescribes golf.

In doing so, the doctor is following the modern tendency to advise outdoor exercise for indoor workers and he invariably says "play golf and live longer."

But it's not new—this golf "bug" that is as virulent as the most deadly germ ever discovered by science because more than 150 years ago Dr. Benjamin Rush, one of the first professors of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, in a book "Sermons to Gentlemen on Temperance and Exercise" prescribed and commended golf as an exercise and a remedy for ill.

It is only in recent years that golf once regarded as a rich man's game has been popularized and has been taken up by men of modest means, and has placed many invalids back on the road to health.

The community that has its own

Widow Cries For Joy

"I couldn't eat anything but raw eggs and sweet milk and was so weak I could hardly walk across the room. I would have been in my grave today if I hadn't taken May's Wonderful Remedy when I did. When I think how I have suffered with my stomach and how good I feel now I cry for joy." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. gold course is indeed fortunate for it places within reach of the man in very ordinary financial circumstances a type of recreation that makes him better physically and mentally and develops a better type of citizenship.

Frankfort's Rates Lowered

It did not take the city of Frankfort long to get action on its petition for lower electric light and power rates. Only a few weeks ago the municipal plant asked permission to reduce its charges and an order has been issued by the state public service commission, granting the reduction.

The new Frankfort rates are much lower than Rushville's but the Rushville city council has indicated that it will petition the state commission soon after the first of July for a revised schedule of water, light and power rates.

Frankfort's maximum light rate is now seven cents for the first 100 kilowatts, whereas Rushville's is ten cents for the first 50 and nine cents for the next fifty, making the average for the first 100 nine and a half cents. Thus, it is seen that Rushville's rate is two and a half cents a kilowatt higher than Frankfort's.

It is believed in Rushville that the patrons of the city plant are entitled to lower rates, in view of the fact that the plant is making money, and there is every reason to believe that a showing before the state commission will result in lower rates being ordered.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO TODAY

From Daily Republican
Friday, June 24, 1910

More than two hundred business men from Indianapolis are mapping a crusade upon Rushville, July 15. The invasion of the Capitol City industrial leaders is part of a general program of the Indianapolis Trade Association to get more interest aroused all over the state in Indianapolis wholesale and jobbing establishments.

The Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction company will be reorganized and a sale of the road will be made by Judge Vinson Carter in the near future, according to a statement made yesterday afternoon by C. L. Henry, receiver for the company.

It has been a "Westward Ho," with a large number of Rushville's younger set, for the last few days the Psi Iota Xi's have been holding the sessions of their national convention in Indianapolis. Miss Helen Scudder and Fanny Gregg are the delegates from this chapter, and Misses Louise Mauzy, Frances Frazer, Louise Craig and Louis Mauzy and Max Wallace have attended some of the business and social sessions of the sorority.

Jack Knecht, Ferd Retherford, Harry Wyatt, Denning Havens and Glen Beboot will go to Greenfield today to attend the dance given in connection with the Tri Kappa State convention. They will make the trip in Wyatt's automobile.

Misses Carrie and Pearl Kitchen went to Indianapolis today to see their sister, Miss Jessie, who was operated on in that city last Saturday.

Miss Louise Craig went to Indianapolis this morning to visit Miss Ethel Sellers.

The Misses Nancy and Martha Hogsett will go to New Castle tomorrow to be the guests of their sister Mrs. Clark Stough and family over Sunday.

Max Wallace is in Indianapolis for a short visit with relatives and he will attend a dance at the country club tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Clark, daughter Miss Marie and son Cecil and Dr. and Mrs. N. G. Willis of Connersville have returned from Columbus where they attended the wedding of Miss Ora Davis and Dr. James Shaddock of Indianapolis.

Mrs. Clarence Cross will entertain a small company tomorrow afternoon honoring Mr. Avis Day of Tucson, Arizona, who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Dale.

The Vestorian club was entertained yesterday by Miss Mary Williams in honor of her birthday anniversary.

MID-WEEK SERVICE

At the mid-week service Thursday evening at St. Paul's Methodist church, the topic for discussion will be "What is Wrong in China Today?"

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—This is a hard one. Unless the reader is deeply learned, as I'm not, he never'll be able to grasp its fine points. But the broad general principle is clear.

Ever hear of pi? Pi—16th letter in the Greek alphabet. Higher mathematics, as you know if you're up on such stuff pi is used to denote the ratio of a circle's circumference to its diameter. It starts with 3 and ends with an infinity—literally, so—of decimals. The dictionary runs it up to 3.14159265 and then stops, out of breath.

To scientists the impossibility of arrivals, in this life, at the final decimal is an infernal nuisance. It prevents the solving of certain riddles, like squaring the circle, which it's every mathematician's burning ambition to find the answer to.

Well, speaking of freak laws, Prof. Fisher, the political economist, has dug up the fact that a Tennessee legislator once tried to help science out of this difficulty—by statute. He introduced a bill to make pi stand for 3 flat.

Compared with anti-evolutionary enactments, what do you know about that?

PERFECTLY bilingual is perfectly noticeable in Washington, with its large assortment of foreign diplomats—highly educated, especially in the languages, and some of them even longer practiced in English than in their native tongues. But they started with the latter and what they started with is what sticks. They may fool you for awhile, but sooner or later some little accent or mistaken interpretation of a shade of meaning gives them away.

Reducing's the fad. Even the fish in our rivers are on a diet.

Old laws put women in stocks. New ones can't even put them all the way in stocks.

An optimist is one who is glad he isn't a pessimist who is glad he isn't an optimist.

Why do people write crazy poetry when the water is warm enough for them to drown themselves?

Wabash—David Knisley, Wabash, has lost the sight of his eye as a result of being struck by a nut from the door hasp in the Big Four Shops.

MORE than anything it's difficult to write naturally in two languages. To illustrate: Connected with one of the Latin American legations here is a secretary whose conversational English is as fluent and accurate as any American's but he writes it a trifle stiltedly. One day it occurred to me to ask one of his legation mates what this chap's Spanish was like. "Oh," said the latter, "it's as good as you can expect from anybody who knows English so well." That's it. Either one language has a slight edge on the other or neither is quite right.

THE Latin, particularly the Spaniard, has the strange delusion that his language is very rich and English very poor. "We have a word for everything," as one Spanish speaking diplomat there explained to me, "but in English you have to use combinations of them to make yourself clear." The mere fact that the English dictionary contains at least 30 per cent more words than any Latin tongue isn't recognized as counting for a thing—except, if you do prove your case too overwhelmingly, you're very apt to lose the Latin friend you've proved it to.

PRONUNCIATION will work wonders with a word. The O-fahr-rail—pronounced with the r's strongly rolled and the accent on the last syllable—family frequently has a visiting member in Washington from Spain. On the hotel register he signs it O'Farrel. One of the Latin American attaches I know, a great movie fan, has a lot to say about Norma Talmadge. Once I saw "coitels" on the wine list in a Barcelona hotel and when I ordered a Martini seco, or dry, I found I'd guessed right.

Yanks Waited Too Long

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, June 24—Forced to make over a ball club that has disintegrated with age, the New York Yankees are facing the wait of many trying years or a lavish expenditure of money.

Four years ago, experienced baseball writers around the American League circuit expressed the opinion: "We'll have to wait until the Yankees have gone to pieces. When they go they'll stay gone for a long while and then our clubs will have a chance."

The Yankees started going last year, when success and age dulled their ambition and brought them into a losing spell that caused them to lose the pennant to the Washington Senators. They finished the job of going this season and they were as far gone after six weeks of the pennant race that the team had to be torn to pieces.

The Yankees, in trying to build over a championship team, are in the same position that Connie Mack was ten years ago when he broke up one of the greatest of all teams and predicted that he would build it over in a year. The Yankees have more money and they are more willing to spend than the Athletics, but the question arises, "Where are they going to buy the players?"

Connie Mack went to the college diamonds and the bush league lots, but eight years of industrious search produced nothing and Mack had to go into the market. After ten years he succeeded in building up a team that may win the American League pennant.

Without quoting exact figures, Mack estimates that in those ten years he spent $385,000 for players. It is impossible to estimate how much more the lean years cost the club when the Philadelphia fans refused to pay money to see Connie Mack working in his baseball laboratory.

With a $5,000,000 investment the Yankees can't spend ten years building over a team and if they are to have success quicker than Mack they will have to discover what was wrong with Mack's methods and experiment with their own.

In Earl Combs, Pee-wee Waminger, Buster Gehrig and Benny Bengough, the Yankees have a good foundation upon which to start their work of reconstruction but the management of the team must get a chill when it looks over the pitching staff and wonders where three or four good young pitchers are to be found.

It so happens that two or three other clubs are in the process of being rebuilt and if the Yankees find prospects in the minor leagues, they will have to get to them first and pay more than the other clubs.

Minor league players are all gamblers. The failure of so many fancy priced stars from the minor leagues is the best evidence of that. Even the less touted players, who do not carry such high purchase prices, involve a heavy expenditure of their money in developments.

Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, who is one of the best informed men in baseball, estimates that it costs a major league club more than $50,000 a year to maintain a scouting organization and that the club is lucky if it gets one good player. The cost of maintaining a scouting system includes the salary of scouts, the payment of expenses to and from the training camps for a flock of rookies and their board for six weeks. The club also faces obligations in placing young players out for development with minor league clubs.

The worst problem the Yankees will have to face will come when Babe Ruth passes. Even with the best of luck the Babe hardly can expect to star for more than three more years. He is too brittle and he plays too hard to last as long as speaker, Collins and Cobb. When Ruth is through it is hard to figure what will become of the Yankees.

COURT SUSTAINS JURY'S DECISION

Refuses Walter Matthews of Connersville New Trial, and Fine of $110 is Enforced

TOTAL COSTS WAS $173.10

Erroll Archey Gives Bond on Assault Charge—Several Court Judgments Are Entered

Walter Matthews of Connersville, who was convicted by a jury in the circuit court last week on a charge of failing to provide his name and address after an automobile accident, was here this morning with his attorney, and filed a motion for a new trial, which was argued and overruled by Judge Sparks.

The court upheld the verdict of the jury which imposed a fine of $110, and in addition the court assessed the costs against the defendant, which in all amounted to a total sum of $173.10.

The defendant considered an appeal to the higher court, but after a conference changed his mind, and paid the fine and costs in the case. He was found guilty to leaving the scene of an accident in which his car and B. O. Simpson of this city was in collision last March. Evidence introduced showed that state police located the driver, as he had failed to provide his name, address or license number after the accident.

Erroll Archey appeared this afternoon before Judge Sparks on a charge of assault and battery, having previously been arrested, and the charge quashed. He was arraigned today on an amended affidavit, to which he pleaded not guilty, and gave $500 bond. He is charged with having assaulted Joseph M. Eskew of Washington township on February 6.

Evidence in the case of Lenna Benson against Wilbur Gordon and others, was heard in court today, and the defendants defaulted, with judgment being entered for the plaintiff in the sum of $60.76 and costs on a note.

The divorce suit of Clara M. Kuhn against Louis H. Kuhn has been dismissed by the plaintiff.

The divorce suit pending of Duward B. Gilson against Edna M. Gilson, in which the defendant has filed a motion for a change of venue from the county, has been sent to Henry county for trial.

AMERICANS ARE REFUGEES

Members of America Colony Will Meet Friday to Consider the Existing Situation

By ALFRED HICKS
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Hong Kong, June 24—British and Indian troops are being dispatched to Shansien, the foreign settlement at Canton.

Six hundred refugees from Shansien, including many Americans, have arrived here.

One Frenchman is dead and several Britishers slightly wounded as the result of a disturbance at Canton yesterday involving Chinese student demonstrators and British marines.

On the day prior to the disturbance, the British consul had warned the Canton government that he heard students intended to make martyrs of themselves by attacking the foreign concession bridges.

He added that any attempt to enter the concession would be forcibly resisted and the government would be held responsible for consequences.

Americans To Meet

Peking, June 24—Members of the American colony will meet Friday to consider the existing Chinese situation.

Tomorrow is a "day of mourning" and the Chinese have been making preparations for a week to observe it.

THE HAPPY HARVESTER

Several Rushville Girls Anxious to Play Stellar Role in a Movie

Plans Are Going Forward for Screening of "A Day in Hollywood." Motion Picture That Will be Taken in This City, and Sponsored by Daily Republican. Local Girls Urged to Fill Out Nomination Blank so That Big Selection Will be Available.

Already several of Rushville's beautiful girls have made application for the stellar role in the Daily Republican's two reel comedy drama, "A Day in Hollywood" which is to be produced here in the city soon by the Pacific Coast Photoplay Producing unit from California.

All others for the cast in this dashing, full of action, movie will be persons of Rushville and vicinity, and perhaps for the first time, the people of Rushville will see just how the silver screen pictures are made. In this issue will be found a nominating blank, and girls who are ambitious for parts in the movie should clip it, and if possible, send it, together with their photographs to the Daily Republican movie editor. If you do not have a photo, send the nominating blank anyway, for it is desired to have as many of the beautiful girls of this city as possible nominated for the picture. There is no contest or any strings attached to this offer. The method of selecting the cast will be the same as that of Mack Sennett or any other producing company. Beauty, with personality and ability to serpen well, will be the prime factors in the selections of the cast.

The Daily Republican's comedy, "A Day in Hollywood", is not the ordinary home talent picture, but a high class motion picture comedy drama. There will be absolutely no merchant advertising injected into this picture, as is the case of most localized pictures. The play will have a plot and in interesting story with plenty of laughs and humorous situations interspersed. The comedy will have both exterior and interior scenes. NATIONAL REALTORS IN CONVENTION AT DETROIT

SIDE TRIPS FEATURE

(By United Press)

Detroit, June 24—Aeroplanes, special trains automobiles and boats brought 5,000 realtors and their families from every section of the United States to attend the National Association of Real Estate boards which convened here for a four day session.

Every state in the union, and practically every town of any size sent delegates to what promises to be the most colorful of more than 200 conventions scheduled for Detroit during the year.

Benjamin L. Coolidge, vice-president of the Chicago Real Estate Board, and Pierce Jones, executive secretary of the board, arranged the speediest trip by taking a big Martin bombing plane.

The "All-California All-Western Special" left Los Angeles June 17 via the Southern Pacific. The train stopped off one day in San Francisco to gather the northwestern delegates, and then sped on to Detroit. This party will return via the Canadian Northwest, arriving back in San Francisco July 6.

A bannered, caravan of automobiles, carrying a huge lump of West Virginia coal, came from Huntington, W. Va., Brief stops were made enroute.

The Detroit Real Estate Board has made extremely elaborate preparations for entertaining the delegates, including trips to all the great automobile plants, and across the river to Windsor where the more or less famous 4.4 percent beer

TO WAGE WAR ON GROUNDHOGS SOON

Much Interest is Being Shown in Tour to be Held Friday on Exterminating the Pests

GOVERNMENT PLAN ADOPTED

Mr. Oderkirk, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Will be in Charge of Local Tour

Considerable interest is expected to be shown in the three ground hog demonstrations to be held in the county Friday, when Mr. Oderkirk, employed by the U. S. department of agriculture will be here, to tell Rush county farmers methods of exterminating them.

At eight o'clock the farm of Leslie Hungerford, in the northeast corner of Orange township will be visited. At ten o'clock the Henry Miller farm at the end of the New Salem cement road will be visited. The afternoon meeting at 1:30 will be on the Jesse Leisure farm in Jackson township.

Mr. Oderkirk will use calcium cyanide, which the department is recommending. It is easy to apply, the cost is little, works instantaneously and is not inflammable. In addition to explaining the necessary precautions in the use of this chemical, Mr. Oderkirk will explain some of the habits of the ground hog, rats and other rodents. Also he will explain the precautions which must be taken in protecting fur bearing animals.

The demonstrations are coming at a very busy time for Rush county farmers. However a great percentage of the farmers of the county are interested in learning some method of control.

Those farmers owning farms where there are ground hogs, believe them more active and in larger number this year, than in previous years according to H. D. Van Matre, county agent, who is also greatly interested in the eradication of the pests.

Mr. Oderkirk comes from Hancock county, where he conducts a similar demonstration on Thursday.

ARGUMENTS BEGUN IN SHEPHERD CASE

State's Attorney Declares Shepherd Had Indirectly Admitted Killing Billy McClinton

HAD GUILTY CONSCIENCE

Attorneys Begin Arguments Reviewing Facts in the Case Brought Out by the Evidence

Criminal Court, Chicago, June 24—William Darling Shepherd has indirectly confessed to the murder of Billy McClinton, the state charged today in its argument to the jury for Shepherd's conviction.

George E. Gorman, first assistant state's attorney, made the charge as he resumed the address he started yesterday.

"This man 'Shepherd,'" Gorman declared, had a guilty conscience and the voice of his conscience led him to make incriminating statements against himself.

"No, he never said 'I killed Billy McClinton,' but he offered alibis and excuses and he fled from town. Those were indirect confessions of his guilt and you gentlemen should keep them in your mind."

Gorman, who yesterday demanded the death penalty for Shepherd, cited law books to show that indirect confessions are often more damaging than direct evidence. Then he told the jury what the "indirect confessions" were.

"Even before the doctors attending Billy found out that the boy had typhoid fever, we find Shepherd telling Amelia Hall, one of the nurses, that Billy had told him he had typhoid fever," Gorman asserted.

"Shepherd was framing an alibi. He knew that Billy had typhoid germs, but Billy didn't know it—he didn't know that his own guardian had poisoned him. No, Shepherd had put the words in the mouth of the dying boy to protect himself."

Gorman cited the fact that Shepherd had told the same story to a newspaper reporter and to a state's attorney.

"Why? Because he was guilty and his conscience was hurting him." Shepherd's murder trial moved rapidly toward its climax, at yesterday's session of court. Shepherd himself took the witness stand in his own defense, denied any part in Billy's death and was submitted to cross examination. When he left the stand, his lawyers announced the case for the defense was complete and closing arguments were started at once.

George E. Gorman, first assistant state's attorney, was the first to address the jury. He talked for more than two hours and continued his address today.

RIPLEY FARMERS TALK AREA PLAN

Dr. Gauze Explains County Tuberculosis Area Plan, and Many Speak in Favor of It

LIVELY MEETING IS HELD

Monthly Session of Farm Bureau Attracts Big Crowd, and Interesting Program is Given

The Ripley township farm bureau held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening in the high school auditorium at Carthage, at which time Dr. Gauze of Carthage was the principal speaker, talking on tuberculosis among stock, and the dangers of the disease to the human race.

The township meeting was a lively affair, and the young people of the township had a part on the program that was given in connection with the address. At the meeting last month, it was decided to carry the monthly meetings through the summer, instead of adjourning until fall.

The meeting Tuesday night opened with a song by the girls' sewing club members, and also a song by the male quartet composed of Jesse Haley, Joe McBride, Robert Hudson and Nevil Chapple, who sang two songs. A duet was next offered by Marie Leisure and Berdaine Herkless. A piano duet also was given by Ruby McGeorge and Lucile Pitts, with a recitation following by Roy Reddick.

Dr. Gauze, the speaker, was next introduced, and at first defined tuberculosis as an infectious and contagious but not an inherited disease. He stated that a farmer can't afford to have a tubercular cow, or spreader in his herd, because she will infect the rest of the cattle and hogs on the farm.

In addition to this, there is a more important reason, he said, and that is to protect the health of his children. He pointed out that in New York City alone, 25 percent of the children having tuberculosis, had contracted bovine tuberculosis by drinking commercial milk. In North Carolina, there are 27 counties and all have made one complete test, he said.

Dr. Gauze scored the person who says he can tell whether his cows had tuberculosis by looking at them, stating that the man who says that, is only fooling himself.

He then defined the county tuberculosis area plan as outlined by the legislature. He said, "It is simply up to the farmers of Rush county whether they want to take advantage."

OVATION EXTENDED AT SALEM

Salem, Mass., June 24—The special train bearing President and Mrs. Coolidge to Swampscott for their summer vacation at "White Court" arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning.

The president and Mrs. Coolidge, Everett Saunders, the executive secretary and Mrs. Saunders; Colonel S. A. Chaney, military aide, and Major F. J. Coupal, White House physician, at once transferred to waiting automobiles and began the three and one half mile trip to Swampscott.

They were met at Salem by Frank W. Stearns, friend of the president and by Richard Jervis, chief of the White House secret service.

Before taking to automobiles the presidential party was briefly greeted by Mayor George J. Baton and members of the city council in the waiting room of the station.

A crowd of several hundred lined the station square and the route of the ride through Salem, giving the president and Mrs. Coolidge a cordial reception.

President and Mrs. Coolidge made the trip in a closed car, preceded and followed by two machines bearing other members of the party and secret service men.

AMUSEMENTS

Harold Bell Wright Picture
The scene of "The Mine with the Iron Door," the new Sol Lesser Principal Pictures feature photograph which has been adapted from Harold Bell Wright's latest and greatest novel, is laid in what is peculiarly Harold Bell Wright territory, the Catalina mountains in Arizona.

"The Mine with the Iron Door," says Mr. Lesser, was made in a locale which was well high ideal for motion picture production.

"Strange stories drift about region," he says, "and thither many men have come—Spaniards, explorers, Indians, cattlemen, seekers for gold, and adventurers of all types, from every land. These men have scaled the mountain heights, up, up, beneath the bluest of skies, over vast deserts they have traveled, up into the wilderness of mountains, and into the mighty Canada del Oro (Canyon of Gold.) Even today in there men still hear of the great lost mine and its fabulous wealth in raw gold—'The Mine with the Iron Door.'"

"The Mine With the Iron Door" is announced as the feature attraction today at the Castle theatre.

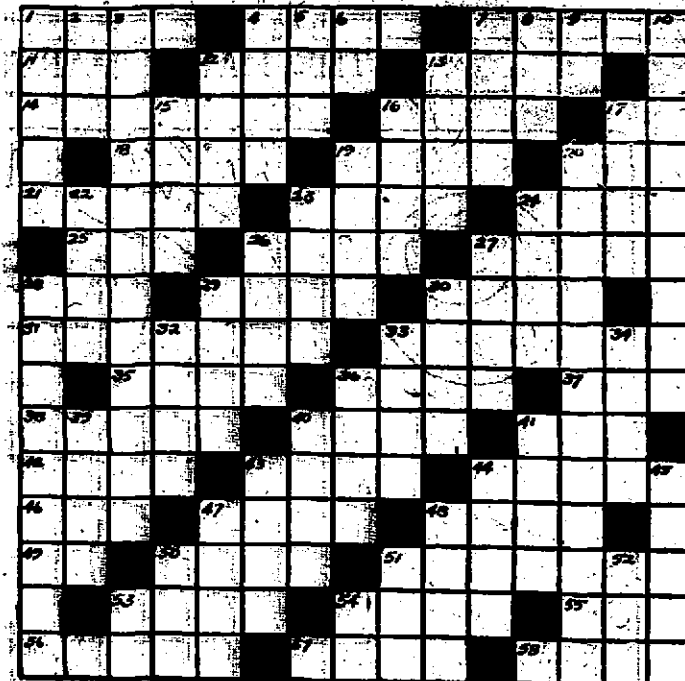

Three Generations of Women

Since the humble origin of Lydia E. Pinckham's Vegetable Compound in 1881, made on a kitchen stove, three generations of women have used this old-fashioned root and herb remedy for their ailments with wonderful success. Very often we hear of families where the grandmother, mother and daughter testify to its virtue. This accounts for the astounding growth and demand for this dependable medicine from all over the United States and from many foreign countries as well.

tage of this opportunity and make sure their herds are free from tuberculosis." He believes the time is coming when we will realize the seriousness of the contagion and farmers will be anxious to keep their herds free without federal assistance. Under the present plan, farmers stand one third of the loss, the state and federal government each one third.

Noah Leisure, township chairman, called on Cassius Gray, who told of his experiences on testing cattle and that he wished to affirm Dr. Gauze's statement that the farmer who thinks he can tell a tubercular cow by looking at her, is only fooling himself. Mr. McGeorge, Harry Leisure and Mike Lovett and others were called upon for their views relative to the county area plan, speaking in the affirmative.

An interesting program followed the address, in which Helen Addison gave a reading, and a duet was given by Walter Addison and Robert Hudson, with the former playing a violin and the latter a banjo. A song by the first and second year sewing girls also was given, and at the close of the meeting, refreshments were served.

Gorman demanded that Shepherd be sent to the gallows to pay with his life for the alleged murder of young McClintock.

When Gorman finishes, Shepherd's attorneys, William Scott Stewart and W. W. O'Brien will present their side of the case. Their arguments probably will consume the balance of the day.

Then will come the fiery chief prosecutor, Robert E. Crowe, who will deliver the state's closing argument. If present plans are carried out, Crowe will conclude his case in sufficient time on Thursday for the judge to instruct the jury and send it to deliberate on Shepherd's fate.

CAPPING IS URGED ON ALL GAS WELLS

Attention Called to State Law, Requiring the Closing of Wells Abandoned by Owners

LEAKY WELLS A MENACE

Neglected Wells and Pipes Will Allow What Little Gas That Remains to Drain Other Veins

Indianapolis, Ind., June 24—Gas wells allowed to stand open or in which the casing leaks, should be repaired at once, for failure to prevent gas escaping into the open air or into porous strata of rock is not only a violation of the state law, but tends to exhaust the future supply, was the warning sounded today by the state conservation commission through its director, Richard Lieber.

The warning followed reports to the department that some owners are neglecting to plug or properly care for abandoned gas wells.

According to Theodore Kingsbury, state gas supervisor, many gas wells of Indiana formerly good producers have become weak and now only show a small flow. Owners of such wells, in many cases, abandoned them or disconnected them from the main gas lines. In some cases these abandoned wells are permitted to stand open and what little gas remains is escaping, conservation department officials say. While they may not be considered good producers, some of these wells still give sufficient gas to supply the needs of one home for a part of the year at least, and state officials urge that this meager supply be conserved.

Several cases of neglected gas wells have been reported recently and these are being investigated and owners directed to repair them by either capping the well if it has been allowed to stand open, replacing the damaged casing if the pipe has developed leaks, or, in case there is no gas, plugging and sealing the well. This action will result in saving the diminishing gas supply of the state.

Conservation officials urge that individuals knowing of old gas wells that have been abandoned and are not sealed, advise the state gas supervisor who will take the proper steps to close them.

PROMINENT YOUTH IS HELD FOR A MURDER

Chicago, June 24—Police today held "Bill" Phalen, wealthy and socially prominent youth, in connection with the slaying of Prolman Patrick McGovern, who was killed while defying three bandits during a hold-up Monday night.

Police do not believe Phalen was connected with the killing but he has been positively identified by an eye witness to the slaying. Other witnesses have been equally positive that Phalen is not the man.

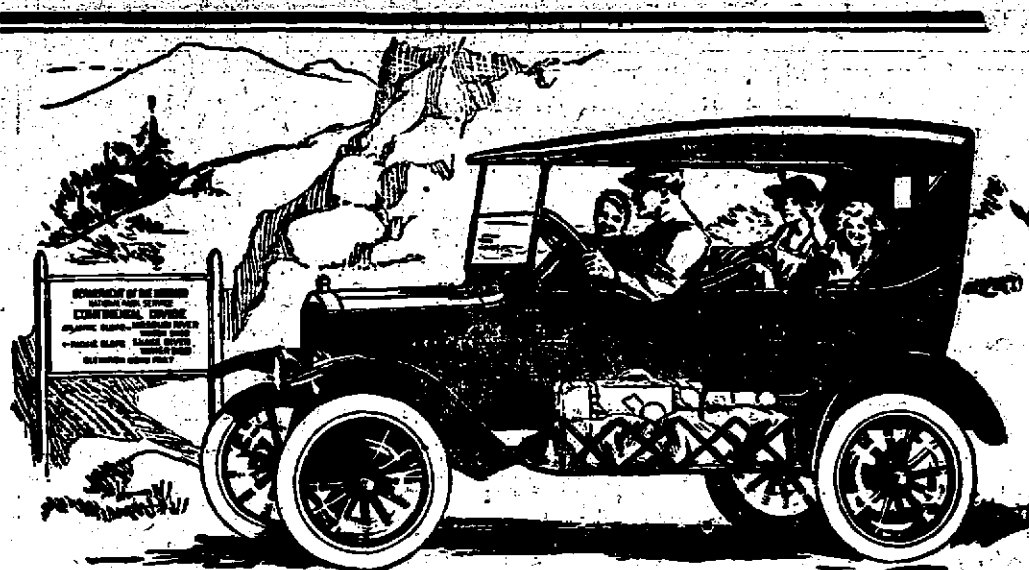

Four high school girls faced Phalen at the coroner's inquest and said that they thought he was the killer. One of them, Jeanette Carter, firmly declared she was sure he is the man she saw kill McGovern.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Michel, Springfield, Ill., declared that Phalen was not the man they saw kill McGovern.

George Haney, treasurer of a movie theatre, who was accompanying McGovern to the bank when he was shot, is also being held.

British consul had warned the Canton government that any Chinese attempt to enter the foreign concession would be forcibly resisted and the government held responsible.

At Hong Kong the additional Chinese were reported joining the general strike while Americans were enrolling in the special constabulary.

Bandits Flee When Cashier Steps on Burglar Alarm

Terre Haute, Ind., June 24—Stepping on the burglar alarm as he faced a sawed off shot-gun through the bars of his cage at the Indiana State Bank, John Thompson, cashier, prevented a robbery by three unmasked armed men today.

Thompson and four others were in the bank when the robber trio entered. One of the robbers thrust a sawed off shot-gun through the cashier's window and told Thompson to "stick 'em up."

Two of the bandits started for the glass door at the rear of the cashier's cage. As they started to open it Thompson stepped on the burglar alarm. The two bandits turned and fled being joined by the man with the shot-gun.

BIBLE THOUGHTBible Thoughts, which will prove a valuable heritage in after years.Make Your Choice—Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal. But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal; For where your treasure is there will your heart be also. Matthew 6:19, 21.Prayer:—Lord, Thou hast said, "My Son, give Me Thine Heart." We would now give to Thee our hearts, and then we cannot but give Thee all else now and ever.Rural HealthThe examination of 3,478 male students in a large state university of the midwest showed that a city of 50,000 or more is distinctly more healthful than small cities, villages and countryside.This is a blow to the common conception that rural life is inherently wholesome and healthful.The crystal waters of the old farm well, fresh food from field, garden and dairy, the gymnastic exercise the plow, hoe and sickle provide, the mental serenity that goes with outdoor life and contact with nature have been so lyrically extended by orators and writers that the idea of the country being more conducive of health is firmly implanted in the average mind.But we will have to give way to new ideas when convincing proof is offered. And those of us who live in the smaller communities should profit from the lessons our big city cousins teach, and adopt all of the modern safeguards against disease that it is possible to utilize outside large centers of population.Golf and LongevityWhen our well known business and professional men begin to take on that "middle-aged spread" and show symptoms of the gout, the doctor wisely prescribes golf.In doing so, the doctor is following the modern tendency to advise outdoor exercise for indoor workers and he invariably says "play golf and live longer."But it's not new—this golf "bug" that is as virulent as the most deadly germ ever discovered by science because more than 150 years ago Dr. Benjamin Rush, one of the first professors of medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, in a book
"Sermons to Gentlemen on Temperance and Exercise" prescribed and commended golf as an exercise and a remedy for ill.It is only in recent years that golf once regarded as a rich man's game has been popularized and has been taken up by men of modest means, and has placed many invalids back on the road to health.

fort long to get action on its petition for lower electric light and power rates. Only a few weeks ago the municipal plant asked permission to reduce its charges and an order has been issued by the state public service commission, granting the reduction.The new Frankfort rates are much lower than Rushville's but the Rushville city council has indicated that it will petition the state commission soon after the first of July for a revised schedule of water, light and power rates.Frankfort's maximum light rate is now seven cents for the first 100 kilowatts, whereas Rushville's is ten cents for the first 50 and nine cents for the next fifty, making the average for the first 100 nine and a half cents. Thus, it is seen that Rushville's rate is two and a half cents a kilowatt higher than Frankfort's.It is believed in Rushville that the patrons of the city plant are entitled to lower rates, in view of the fact that the plant is making money, and there is every reason to believe that a showing before the state commission will result in lower rates being ordered.FIFTEEN YEARS

Friday, June 24, 1910More than two hundred business men from Indianapolis are mapping a crusade upon Rushville, July 15.

NEA Service WriterWASHINGTON—This is a hard one. Unless the reader is deeply learned, as I'm not, he never'll be able to grasp its fine points. But the broad general principle is clear.Ever hear of pi? Not pi or printer's pi? Pi—16th letter in the Greek alphabet. Higher mathematically, as you know if you're up on such stuff pi is used to determine the ratio of a circle's circumference to its diameter. It starts with 3 and ends with an infinity—literally so—of decimals.
The dictionary runs it up to 3.14159265 and then stops, out of breath.To scientists the impossibility of arrivals, in this life, at the final decimal is an infernal nuisance.
It prevents the solving of certain riddles, like squaring the circle, which it's every mathematician's burning ambition to find the answer to.Well, speaking of freak laws, Prof. Fisher, the political economist, has dug up the fact that Tennessee legislator once tried to help science out of this difficulty—by statute. He introduced a bill to make pi stand for 3 flat.Compared with anti-evolutionary enactments, what do you know about that?PRACTICALLY nobody is perfectly bilingual. This is very noticeable in Washington.
With its large assortment of foreign diplomats—highly educated, some of them even longer practiced in English than in their native tongue. But they started with the latter and what they started with is what sticks. They may fool you for a while, but sooner or later some little accent or mistaken interpretation of a shade, of meaning gives them away.Reducing the fat. Even the fish very rich and English very poor.

"We have a word for every-

Yanks Waited Too Long

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, June 24—Forced to make over a ball club that has disintegrated with age, the New York Yankees are facing the wait of many trying years or a lavish expenditure of money.

Four years ago, experienced baseball writers around the American League circuit expressed the opinion: "We'll have to wait until the Yankees have gone to pieces. When they go they'll stay gone for a long while and then our clubs will have a chance."

The Yankees started going last year, when success and age dulled their ambition and brought them into a losing spell that caused them to lose the pennant to the Washington Senators. They finished the job of going this season and they were as far gone after six weeks of the pennant race that the team had to be torn to pieces.

The Yankees, in trying to build over a championship team, are in the same position that Connie Mack was ten years ago when he broke up one of the greatest of all teams and predicted that he would build it over in a year. The Yankees have more money and they are more willing to spend than the Athletics, but the question arises, "Where are they going to buy the players?"

Connie Mack went to the college diamonds and the bush league lots, but eight years of industrious search produced nothing and Mack had to go into the market. After ten years he succeeded in building up a team that may win the American League pennant.

Without quoting exact figures, Mack estimates that in those ten years he spent $385,000 for players. It is impossible to estimate how much more the lean years cost the club when the Philadelphia fans refused to pay money to see Connie working in his baseball laboratory.

With a $5,000,000 investment the Yankees can't spend ten years building over a team and if they are to have success quicker than Mack they will have to discover what was wrong with Mack's methods and experiment with their own.

In Earl Combs, Pee-wee Wanninger, Buster Gehrig and Benny Bengough, the Yankees have a good foundation upon which to start their work of reconstruction but the management of the team must get a chill when it looks over the pitching staff and wonders where three or four good young pitchers are to be found.

It so happens that two or three other clubs are in the process of being rebuilt and if the Yankees find prospects in the minor leagues, they will have to get to them first and pay more than the other clubs.

Minor league players are all gamblers. The failure of so many fancy priced stars from the minor leagues is the best evidence of that. Even the less touted players, who do not carry such high purchase prices, involve a heavy expenditure of their money in developments.

Ed Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, who is one of the best informed men in baseball, estimates that it costs a major league club more than $50,000 a year to maintain a scouting organization and that the club is lucky if it gets one good player. The cost of maintaining a scouting system includes the salary of scouts, the payment of expenses to and from the training camps for a flock of rookies and their board for six weeks. The club also faces obligations in placing young players out for development with minor league clubs.

The worst problem the Yankees will have to face will come when Babe Ruth passes. Even with the best of luck the Babe hardly can expect to star for more than three more years. He is too brittle and he plays too hard to last as long as speaker, Collins and Cobb. When Ruth is through it is hard to figure what will become of the Yankees.

John McGraw took active charge of the Giants for the first time since May 1, and the champions divided a double header with the Robins. Both scores were 8 to 5.

Carl Mays made his first appearance of the season and was batted out of the box, the Cubs beating the Reds again 6 to 5.

The Phils took both ends of a double bill with the Braves, 7 to 3, and 9 to 7.
